EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—MAYOR'S OFFICE,
NEW YORK, January 1, 1877.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

In this country it is customary for newly elected executive officers to publish on the day of their taking office, their views and opinions concerning the duties and powers with which they are charged. I have concluded to follow the example of my predecessors, briefly, although I think the duty might be more intelligently discharged at a later day.

On resuming my connection with the administration of our City and County Government, after an interval of six years, I find much that is gratifying and much to deplore.

Our highest prerogative as citizens is the privilege of choosing our rulers and representatives freely and without interference. I congratulate my fellow citizens on the grand spectacle our City presented on the day of the last general election, when 172,000 voters deposited their ballots without any obstruction or disorder, and these ballots were afterwards canvassed openly and justly. That this vote was intelligently given, is demonstrated by the fact that although the party line was distinctly drawn, and only two tickets were in the field, it is estimated that a majority of the whole number of voters refrained from voting a regular party ticket, but discriminated by erasing or changing one or more names on their respective ballots. This result in a population composed of such strange and varied elements is properly a matter of congratulation and pride, while it vindicates the wisdom and practicability of universal suffrage even in large cities. It is more gratifying when contrasted with our condition a few years ago, when dishonest men manipulated our ballot boxes, and ballots of our citizens, by thousands, were counted for candidates against whom they were cast.

Next in importance to honest elections is an honest Judiciary. At the present time it is conceded that all of our Judges are men of good ability and undoubted integrity, within whose jurisdiction liberty and property are protected, and not imperilled. We all remember the time when some of the Judges of our most important tribunals were the sycophants and tools of the men who had nominations to give, and the courts of law were used by rapacious men as instruments of oppression and extortion.

A very gratifying improvement is also observable in the management of our municipal affairs. With rare exceptions the various Departments and Bureaus of the City Government are controlled by officials who are entitled to the respect and confidence of the community. In this respect there has been a manifest improvement during the past few years, and I think it may now be truthfully said, that our city officials will compare favorably with those of any other large city in this country.

It cannot be denied that great faults and defects arising from the inharmonious, irregular, and feeble administration of some of the departments and bureaus, are apparent to all who interest themselves in public matters.

Complaint is constantly made of the condition of our streets and wharves; of our imperfect hack and cab system, and the want of proper and comfortable facilities of communication; of the capricious and spasmodic raids made upon offenders against the laws; of the illegal exactions made by subordinate officials from citizens, whose business and property bring them into communication with some bureau of the city government; of the opening and improvement of streets long in advance of the needs of the public, by which heavy burdens are imposed upon unproductive property, and of various other abuses more or less conspicuous. It is painful to acknowledge that so much remains to be done to perfect our local government, but the manifest improvement already accomplished warrants us in believing that the evils which still exist may be checked and remedied. If citizens, who are the objects of official injustice, will communicate with this office, its power will be exerted in their behalf.

The subject of municipal reform has recently received considerable attention from our State authorities, both executive and legislative, and it is to be hoped that the commission recently appointed to report to the Legislature such constitutional amendments or laws to remedy the evils of our municipal systems, composed as it is of some of the ablest men in the State, may be instrumental in procuring amendments to our constitution and laws, which will effectually correct many if not all the evils of our present defective system of municipal government.

During the period of misrule to which I have alluded, our city indebtedness was enormously increased. Some portion of this debt is so involved that it is difficult to estimate its magnitude, and it is to be greatly regretted that there are now pending in the various Courts of law about thirty-eight hundred suits, involving in the aggregate several millions of dollars.

The debt of the city at the present time, including Assessment Bonds, etc., is estimated to be.....	$141,977,713 00
Less amount in Sinking Fund.....	28,147,102 00
Leaving a net debt.....	$113,830,611 00
In addition to this there are revenue bonds outstanding, issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes, amounting to.	6,104,844 00
There is also to be added for the liability of the city for the debts of the annexed portion of Westchester county.	1,245,000 00

An additional bonded indebtedness has been authorized, as follows:

Revenue Bonds for Additional Free Floating Baths.....	Chap. 169, Laws of 1876	30,500 00
Revenue Bonds in Anticipation of Taxes.....	Charter of 1873.....	For amount not to exceed the annual taxes.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment, consisting of four of the highest city officials, are charged with a most important duty in fixing and limiting the amount to be raised by taxation and to be expended by each of the Departments, a duty which they have discharged with singular fidelity and wisdom. It seems to me that the efficiency of this Board might be still further increased by appointing to it an additional member directly representing the taxable property, particularly the real estate, of the city.

It became necessary during the administration of my immediate predecessor, to take measures for the protection of the ferry rights of the city. Suits have been instituted, one of which involves the very important question whether our ferry franchises extend to the newly acquired territory embraced in the towns of Morrisania, West Farms, and Kingsbridge. The annexation of these towns to the city has added to our municipal territory a new water front on the eastern shore of the Harlem river, and on the East river, and it is very important that the rights of the city therein should be fully protected. Another litigation now pending relates to the lease of five of the city ferries running to Brooklyn, at a nominal rent, being a loss to the Sinking Fund of more than $100,000 per annum. The pending suit seeks to have the lease set aside as an unlawful diversion of rents that are pledged to the Sinking Fund. Proceedings have also been taken to determine whether the Central Railroad of New Jersey is infringing on the ferry rights of the city. The progress and results of these litigations will be made known to you in due time.

The deficient supply of Croton water during a portion of the past year, has occasioned much inconvenience, and many remedies have been suggested. Our financial condition will not permit us to construct a new aqueduct. The present one cost ten millions of dollars when laborers received only fifty cents per day, and an additional one might now cost double that sum.

Our present aqueduct can convey to the city one hundred and ten millions of gallons per day, an amount much beyond our necessities, and on the completion of the new reservoirs in Westchester county, this quantity can be furnished regularly during the whole year. These new reservoirs, I am informed, can be completed within a year, and when completed there will be a supply of water sufficient to meet the requirements of the city. Besides this, the new high-service water-works for the purpose of supplying water to the elevated localities of the city, will soon be completed, when water can be furnished in the upper stories of most of our buildings. It is also a fact worthy of consideration, that during the past season, when there was an exceptional scarcity of water, there was a sufficient supply for all necessary and legitimate purposes, and that as soon as the services of our efficient police force were directed to stopping the waste of water, all danger of a failure of supply was at once averted. I am opposed to the extension of the use of water-meters to private houses, believing that there is no necessity for any such innovation in our water system.

The subject of rapid transit is one of very great importance to our city, and I trust that some method of communication between the upper and lower portions of the city will be devised which will accomplish the desired object, without causing uncompensated injury to the property along the route.

The recent combination on the part of the gas companies to compel the city to pay $36 per lamp, per annum, instead of $23, as heretofore, (an attempt happily frustrated by the strictures of the press and the force of public opinion), suggests the consideration of the propriety of adopting some system of lighting the city which shall be under the control of its own authorities.

The present depression and stagnation in our business affairs, the large number of persons now out of employment, greater by far than ever before known, and the consequent depression in the value of real estate in our city, call for increased vigilance on our part to see that no greater burthens are placed upon the people than are necessary, and for increased fidelity in the discharge of the trusts committed to our charge.

I therefore think that we should not only abstain from sanctioning any increase of the city debt, and from creating any new public office, but that we should rigidly reduce as far as practicable, both the numbers and the salaries, of those now in existence. A winter of unusual severity compel us to deal at once with the most difficult social problems, in providing the means and the agents for the relief of destitution, without encouraging pauperism and vice.

A good city government cannot be secured by the acts of the officials alone, without the co-operation of the people. With such co-operation, it is fair to believe that the government of our city, instead of being a scandal and reproach, as it was a few years ago, may be made creditable to our position as the first city of the continent.

Mayor.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN,

FEBRUARY 21, 1877.

The following message from his Honor the Mayor, transmitting the Annual Report of the Commissioners of Accounts, was received, and 500 copies ordered to be printed in document form.

FRANCIS J. TWOMEY,
Clerk.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—CITY HALL,
NEW YORK, February 21, 1877.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith transmit the Annual Report of the Commissioners of Accounts, made pursuant to the provisions of section 34 of chapter 335 of the Laws of 1873.

SMITH ELY,
Mayor.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF ACCOUNTS,
No. 27 CHAMBERS STREET,
NEW YORK, February 14, 1877.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council of the City of New York:

GENTLEMEN—It is provided in the Charter of the city, chapter 335 of the Laws of 1873, section 34, that "The accounts of the City Treasury shall be annually closed on the last day of November," and it is made the duty of the Commissioners of Accounts to examine the accounts so closed, and the vouchers of all moneys received into, and paid out of the City Treasury during the year over which these accounts extend.

I.

This provision of the law as to the closing of the City Accounts on the last of November annually has been virtually a dead letter. Probably this is to be attributed to the system upon which the books of the Department are kept. These books show correctly the moneys paid each day into the Treasury, but the moneys paid out are not charged to any particular account, but are divided into a multitude of accounts, corresponding with the various appropriations made for carrying on the different purposes of the government.

Appropriations are made not for the year ending on the last of November, but for the calendar year, and as numerous payments are made on account of each of the various appropriations after the calendar year is closed, there is in fact no proper closing of any of the accounts on the books of the Department either at the close of the month of November, or at the close of the calendar year.

This system ought to be changed. As the appropriations for the various purposes of the government of the city are made each year, and as the officers of the government are prohibited from incurring any expense for any purpose, beyond the amount appropriated therefor, the law ought imperatively to require that, on the books of the Finance Department, each appropriation account should, at a fixed date (say June 30), be closed, each year, and, after setting aside an amount sufficient to meet the claims upon the appropriation which may have been filed in the Finance Department, the balance remaining unexpended should lapse into the Treasury.

The necessity for lapsing these balances into the Treasury is more urgent than is generally realized.

The sum raised each year by taxation in the city is the exact amount of the appropriations made, less the amount in the general fund, available for the payment of appropriations, and a small amount added to meet the deficiencies in the collection of the tax. Thus, with the exception of the small amount added for deficiencies, the exact sum raised by taxation is appropriated to be expended during the year, and, while generally the amount so appropriated is expended, there is every year a deficit in taxation, which creates of necessity a deficit in the Treasury to meet the expenditures authorized, and these deficits, consisting of arrears, at the close of business, on June 30, 1876, as shown by the books of the Finance Department, amounted to the sum of $18,759,847.63—being on Personal Tax, $10,888,768.94, and tax on Real Estate, $7,971,078.69.

It must, therefore, be apparent that every effort that can be legitimately made to reduce this deficit ought, at once, to be taken advantage of by the officers of the city government—and the unexpended balances on any appropriation—when the product of the Tax-levy is deficient to provide for the same, ought never to be transferred as an authority to spend money, which in fact the Treasury has not to pay. While the arrears which form the deficit on the tax on real estate will, to a large extent, be recovered by the enforcement of the lien which the law gives to the city on the property assessed, the arrears which form the deficit on the personal tax is almost entirely irrecoverable, and some remedy must ere long be devised to make good the deficiency. How, with such a deficiency in the Treasury, the annual obligations of the city upon the appropriations made have been met from year to year, we are not able to explain, for there is no account in the Finance Department which affords full information upon the subject.

II.

We have examined the accounts and vouchers of all moneys paid into and paid out of the City Treasury for the year 1876, down to the 7th day of December, being the date upon which the present Comptroller entered upon the duties of his office. In Schedule "A," hereto annexed, is shown the various amounts paid into the City Treasury, and the accounts upon which such payments were made, and also the several amounts paid on the different accounts by the Treasury during the year.

The balance in the Treasury in bank on December 31, 1875, was $870,208.53. The payments into the Treasury, deposited in bank from January 1 to December 7, 1876, both dates inclusive, was $75,619,532.24, which, with the balance in bank at the close of the preceding year, gives the total amount of the deposits to the credit of the Treasury, $76,489,740.77. The total payments made from the Treasury on the various accounts, as shown in Schedule "A," to December 7, 1876, amounted to $73,987,210.49, leaving a balance in the Treasury on deposit in bank on said December 7, 1876, of $2,502,530.28.

III.

We have found vouchers in the Finance Department for each payment made from the funds in the Treasury during the year to December 7, and the several amounts paid are entered correctly to the appropriate account on the books of the Department. The sums paid on each appropriation has not in any instance exceeded the total amount appropriated for the purpose.

We consider it proper to direct special attention to a payment of $4,600 from the Treasury, on January 27, 1876, to the counsel for the plaintiff in the action of quo warranto commenced on the relation of John A. Stemler against Joseph McGuire to determine the title to the office of Judge of the Seventh District Court.

This payment was made, as appears, from the voucher on the authority of the following provision contained in the 113th section of the Charter of 1873: "No appropriation or payment for the contesting of the office of Mayor, or any seat in the Board of Aldermen, or office in any Department, or the office of any officer whose salary is paid from the City Treasury, shall be made to any but the prevailing party. Nor shall any such appropriation or payment be made to such prevailing party except upon the written certificates of the chief officer of the Law Department, and of the Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas of the City and County of New York, as to the value of services rendered in the case."

The certificates which this provision requires were given to the counsel for the plaintiff in the action referred to, and it was upon these certificates that such counsel was paid. We do not call in question the act of the Comptroller in having in these circumstances paid this particular fee, but in connection with this payment it is proper to consider the fact that the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals have both decided that, under another section of the Charter, namely, the 97th, which contains the following provision: "The salaries of all officers paid from the City Treasury, whose offices now exist but are not embraced in any Department, shall be fixed by the Board of Apportionment"—that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment had no authority to reduce the salaries of the clerks of the District Courts, because, although they were officers whose salaries were paid from the City

Treasury, they were not officers of the government of the city, but of the judicial system of the State, and as the title of the Charter was an act relating to the local government of the city, the provision in the 97th section could apply only to officers of the government of the city. For these reasons the action of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, reducing the salaries of the clerks of the District Courts, was set aside, and judgments for the full amount of the salaries, as fixed prior to the date of the reduction, was given against the city.

If, therefore, the highest Courts in the State have declared that the words "The salaries of all officers paid from the City Treasury," in the 97th section of the Charter, does not for the reasons explained apply to clerks of the District Courts, we cannot perceive how the words "The office of any officer whose salary is paid from the City Treasury"—as these occur in the 113th section of the Charter—can be held to include the Justices of these District Courts. If the clerks are not included within the provisions of the 97th section, and the Courts have determined they are not, then of a certainty the Justices of these courts are not included within the provisions of the 113th section, for the same words occur in both sections.

We direct attention to this matter solely because of various litigations which have just been closed as to the title of the clerks of these courts to their office, in the hope that the subject will receive careful consideration before any certificate is given in these cases which will authorize the counsel of the successful litigants to demand payment of their expenses out of the City Treasury.

The provision contained in the 113th section of the Charter as to the payment of such expenses, in any case ought to be repealed. The city ought not, in any instance, to be made responsible for a litigation which it cannot control, and in which it has no interest. If persons are ambitious of filling any of the offices payable from the City Treasury, there is no reason why they should not accept the responsibility of a litigation, if such should arise as to their title, and bear the consequences of such litigation, as all other litigants in our courts have to do.

In another litigation to which the city was a party, a decision was given during the course of the year in the Supreme Court, at Circuit, which decided that under all contracts for work made by the city prior to April 7, 1872, the expense of which was to be assessed upon the property benefited, the contractor, under the ordinance of the city, which is made a part of all such contracts, was bound to pay interest to the city on the 70 per cent. payments made to him as the work progressed, from the date of the advance, down to the date of the confirmation of the assessment; and that it was the duty of the Comptroller to deduct such interest out of the 30 per cent. payment payable to the contractor on such confirmation. Until this decision, the Comptrollers of the city from 1859 had always, on a settlement with the contractor, deducted interest on the 70 per cent. payment from the date of advance or payment, down only to the date of the completion of the work. Between the date of the completion of the work and the date of the confirmation of the assessment for the expense of the work, a considerable period frequently intervened, almost always owing to the negligence of the city officials, and extending in some instances over years, so that in such cases where settlements have been made, charging interest only down to the date of the completion of the work, the city has, if the authority of the decision referred to is sustained, not charged by its Comptrollers the entire sums it was entitled to receive. There can be no question but that each Comptroller acted in these settlements in perfect good faith, and so also did the contractors, both in entering into the contract and in settling there claims thereunder. These transactions have extended over a period of nearly twenty years, and involve numerous settlements. We have not made up a detailed statement showing the particulars, for we consider that even if the construction of the ordinance referred to should be sustained, it is so against the understanding of all the parties to these contracts, and their rights under the same, that in giving effect to such universal understanding, the action of the Comptrollers cannot now fairly be called in question. In order to avoid all questions which might be raised on the authority of the decision referred to in reference to the settlements made, as we have explained, there ought to be such necessary legislation as would place the settlements made beyond question, and secure to the contracting parties their rights, as understood by them and by the representatives of the city, when entering into the contracts referred to.

Schedule "B" annexed is a correct abstract of the various appropriation accounts as these appear on the books of the Finance Department. This schedule shows the balances remaining unexpended, on January 1, 1876, of the various appropriations made for the years preceding that date, the total amount of such balances being $2,965,856.05. It also shows the amounts transferred by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment from one appropriation to another during the year, such transfer amounting to a total of $321,468.65.

The several amounts of the various appropriations made for the year 1876, are shown to amount to a total of $34,920, 385.88.

The expenditures on each appropriation are also set forth in the schedule, the total expenditures being $32,601,244.53. The balances remaining unexpended on the different appropriations on December 7, 1876, including the balances on all appropriations made prior to the year 1876, amounted in the aggregate to $5,645,824.16.

V.

Schedule "C" annexed is a statement of the Bonded Debt of the city, as the same existed December 7, 1876. The total Bonded Debt of the city on that date was—

Less Stocks and Bonds held by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund.....		28,009,508 41
Net Debt.....		$121,580,855 00

The securities held by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund are applicable to the payment of but a limited portion of the Bonded Debt of the city. We have stated in our schedule the portion of the debt payable from the Sinking Fund, as amounting to $18,727,963.36. This is in accordance with the classification which has hitherto been made as stated, and set forth in the various reports of the different Comptrollers, and also as given in the various messages of the different Mayors, relating to the subject. In the message of Mayor Wickham to the Common Council, on January 3, 1876, the bonds and stocks of the city, payable from the Sinking Fund, are stated as amounting, on January 1, 1876, to $21,042,663 36

There has been paid since January 1, 1876, Bonds or Stocks of the city, a charge on the Sinking Fund to the extent of.....	65,000 00
	$21,107,663 36
And there was paid during the year from the Sinking Fund Bonds or Stocks to the amount of.....	2,379,700 00
Corresponding with amount as stated in our schedule.....	$18,727,963 36

The surplus in the Sinking Fund, after providing for this amount of $18,727,963.36, was, on December 7, 1876, $9,281,-545.05. A portion of this surplus will, in the year 1878, become applicable to the payment of what is known as the Floating Debt Fund Stock, and which amounts to $2,748.000.

This stock was issued on the authority contained in the statute, chapter 408 of the Laws of 1860, entitled "An act to provide for funding and paying the Floating Debt of the Corporation of the City of New York." By this statute the city was authorized to borrow and raise by loan, an amount not exceeding $3,000,000, and at a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent., to pay off and liquidate the Floating Debt of the city "arising from remissions or deficiencies of taxes and assessments, or the failure to collect any taxes or assessments levied or assessed prior to the first day of January, 1859, or from any mistakes, defalcations, or frauds of any public officers of said city, or other persons, made or committed prior to the first day of January, 1859, not otherwise specially provided for."

Under this provision, bonds of the city to the aggregate amount of $2,748,000 were issued, and the money paid into the City Treasury, but the amount thus paid has not been applied, so far as appears from the books of the Finance Department, to any of the special purposes set forth in the statute. It is by this statute also provided that for the payment and redemption of the moneys so borrowed a tax was to be imposed on the estate, real and personal, in said city subject to taxation, to be collected in addition to ordinary taxes, yearly; and on or before the first day of July in each year, commencing with the year 1865, a sum sufficient, with the accumulation of interest thereon, to realize and discharge the whole amount of said loan, by the time the same became payable, and raised by tax aforesaid, is directed to be paid to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund; and the moneys so raised and paid were to be under the management and control of said Commissioners and to be invested by them in the same manner as provided by law in respect to the revenues pledged to the Sinking Fund for the redemption of the debt of the city. Any moneys which might be collected or realized from the uncollectable taxes and assessments, or from other arrears or sources which were the cause of the deficiency provided by the statute to be paid, is directed, as soon as so realized, to be paid to said Commissioners of the Sinking Fund for the payment of the said loan.

There has been raised by taxation yearly since the year 1865 a sum of $130,763.33, which has been paid yearly on July 1st to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, but no account has been kept on the books of the Finance Department showing how these annual payments have been invested, or showing the accumulations upon such investments. Neither is their any account showing what taxes or assessments, "the cause of the deficiency," the bonds were issued to provide for, were paid to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, nor, if such payments were made, how they were invested, and what were the accumulations upon such investments.

Only one further yearly payment has been made on the special tax raised to meet these bonds, and on such payments the bonds, when they fall due, will have to be provided for from the Sinking Fund, as there is an available surplus, whether the accumulations upon the annual payments will prove sufficient for the purpose or otherwise. With the exception of these Floating Debt Bonds, the entire amount of the Bonded Debt in the schedule, as payable from taxation and amounting to $98,023,-249.92, will have to be provided for, according to the provisions now in force, as they respectively fall due, out of taxation.

The revenue of the Sinking Fund for the redemption of the City Debt varies from about two and a half to three millions of dollars annually; according to law, these revenues must be paid into the Sinking Fund. There is already a surplus of $9,281,-545.05 of accumulations in that fund against which no claim exists, except the $2,748,000 of the Floating Debt Fund Bonds, as explained, so that this peculiar anomaly will be continued of raising by tax each year an amount sufficient to pay the Bonded Debt, as it falls due, while there is accumulating in the hands of the Sinking Fund Commissioners an amount every year sufficient to meet this debt, but which cannot be applied to the purposes nor to any other purpose, so long as the present laws remain in force.

These laws should be amended at once, making all the present Bonded Debt of the city payable from taxation a charge upon the Sinking Fund after applying sufficient from that fund to pay all the bonds and stocks at present a charge thereon; and by continuing the payment to the fund of the present revenues the accumulations will be sufficient to meet all the Bonded Debt and stocks payable from taxation, and thus relieve the annual tax levy of this special burden.

The assessment bonds of the city outstanding on December 7, 1876, amounted to $22,371,400.00; these bonds are classified as a portion of the "Temporary Debt" of the city.

They are so represented because originally assessment bonds were issued in anticipation and on the security of the assessments to be imposed on the properties benefited for the expense of the works, to provide for the payment of which these bonds were issued. This system was first introduced in 1852, and the issue of bonds under it have gone on increasing until now the issue amounts to about one-seventh of the entire debt of the city. Although originally it could be said that every bond issued was secured by an assessment to be imposed, to assert such in the present day would misrepresent the facts. Assessments imposed have, to a large amount, been vacated on account of legal technicalities arising to a large extent from the careless acts of the officials of the Common Council in failing to advertise as the law directed—the proceedings of the Council authorizing the local improvements. All assessments so vacated are, of course, lost to the city, while the city is left burdened with its outstanding bonds upon which it raised the moneys to pay for the improvements on the faith of these payments being reimbursed to it by the owners of the properties benefited. As these owners, instead of paying for the benefit, have taken advantage of the technicalities referred to and obtained relief from the burden of their assessments, the city is compelled to provide otherwise for the payment of its outstanding bonds, so far as these bonds are now represented and cannot be represented by any assessment imposed or which can lawfully be imposed. The total amount of assessments imposed and which may be recovered, amounted, on December 7, 1876, to about $10,749,763.82.

In addition to this amount advances have been made by the city from the proceeds of assessment bonds for works of the description for which assessments ought to be imposed to about the maximum sum of $11,205,325.69. Of the present indebtedness of $22,371,400 on assessment bonds, there is, at least, $7,000,000 which is represented by no assessment, and for which no assessment can be imposed. To classify, therefore, and continue this $7,000,000 of asssessment bonds as a portion of the city's "Temporary Debt" secured by assessments to be recovered, is not a correct statement of the facts. For this $7,000,000 the city must provide otherwise, and the present is a favorable opportunity, owing to the low rate of interest, for converting these temporary assessment bonds into long bonds to be provided for by taxation, or from the accumulations of the Sinking Fund. The power to issue these long bonds should be at once conferred upon the proper officials.

Among the bonded indebtedness of the city there is included outstanding bonds unpaid, issued for the erection and completion of the New Court-house, amounting to $3,256,091.07.

There are two statutes, which it is claimed are still in force, authorizing the issue of bonds for the completion of this building—these are (1), chapter 382 of the Laws of 1870, section 11 of which authorizes the issue of $600,000; and (2), chapter 583 of the Laws of 1871, section 7 of which authorizes the issue of bonds to the amount of $750,000. Although the bonds under the first of these statutes have not been issued, the full amount authorized to be issued by the statute, namely, $600,000, was advanced in 1870, and in the beginning of 1871, from the Treasury, and has been expended to the full amount. What particular funds in the Treasury were thus appropriated is not shown on the books of the Finance Department, but whatever the particular funds were, such a use of the general moneys in the Treasury was without authority of law. When the bonds authorized by the statute are issued, the proceeds ought to be applied to repay the Treasury the moneys so taken from it. Until this is done there is a deficit in the Treasury to the amount of the advances made. The only remaining authority for the issue of bonds for the completion of this court-house building is that contained in the statute of 1871, chapter 583, section 7.

In the Finance Department there are on file four contracts entered into by the present Court-house Commissioners, on the authority, as these contracts set forth, of section 7, chapter 583 of the Laws of 1871. The total amount of these contracts is $381,478.

The present Commissioners of the Court-house were appointed on May 8, 1874, by the late Mayor Havemeyer.

Prior to the date of these appointments, bonds of the county, to the amount of $154,091.07, a part of the issue of $750,000 authorized by the statue of 1871, had been issued, and the amount expended.

There remained, therefore, but a sum of $495,231.86, which could be expended for the completion of this building. Of this amount the Board of Estimate and Apportionment have appropriated but $100,000, and with only this appropriation the Court-house Commissioners have entered into contracts authorizing $381,478 of expenditures for the purpose. These Commissioners were appointed under the provisions of the Charter of the city; they are Charter officers, as was decided by the Supreme Court, in the case of Wood, 14 Supreme Court Reports. They are like the Third District Court-house Commissioners—city officials appointed to "render a service to the city in reference to a corporate matter or duty." Clearly, therefore, as city officials they are subject to the provisions of the Charter, as to the expenditures of the public moneys.

It is a fact worthy of consideration that the Charter itself, in section 119, repeals this statute, chapter 583, of the Laws of 1871, which is entitled "An act to make provision for the local government of the City of New York, passed April 19, 1871," so far as the same relates to the City of New York. There is not now any authority in law for the County of New York either to hold property or to incur any obligation of any description. The court-house building is city property, and the funds to complete the building must be provided by the city, on its bonds, or otherwise. If, therefore, the statute of 1871 is repealed so far as it applies to the city, how can there be under its provisions, and pursuant to its authority, city obligations incurred in connection with this city property? If, however, notwithstanding the repeal of the statute, such obligations can be lawfully incurred, the question arises as to the extent to which this can be done.

The Law of 1871 does not appropriate the $750,000 authorized to be raised by that statute for the completion of the court-house. What the statute does provide is, that "For the completion of the New York County Court-house the sum of $750,000 is hereby authorized to be appropriated, to be expended under the direction and supervision of the Commissioners." This provision has been judicially passed upon. Judge Barrett, in his opinion in the litigation between the city and the Tenth National Bank, decided as follows: "The sum of $750,000 was not, however, thereby appropriated, but only authorized to be appropriated. It is true that the Comptroller is directed to raise said amount on the stock of the County of New York, but, by section 4 of the same act, such stock can only be paid by authority of the Board of Apportionment. The duty of the Comptroller was therefore limited to whatever amount might be appropriated, under the authority of the act, upon such stock of the county as the Board of Apportionment might authorize him to issue." This decision was affirmed at General Term, and subsequently in the Court of Appeals.

It is therefore the settled law, as to the matter of this court-house, that the statute of 1871 does not of itself make an appropriation for the completion of the building, but authorizes the Board of Apportionment to do so. This is a different provision from that contained in the statutes as to the Third District Court-house. These latter statutes appropriate the specific amounts therein set forth for the erection of the building, and, within the limits of the amounts so appropriated, the Commissioners of that building could lawfully incur obligations for its erection. Not so with the Commissioners of the New Court-house—their authority is limited—not to the amount authorized to be raised by the statute, but to such portion of this amount as the Board of Apportionment might appropriate for the completion of the building.

The Board of Apportionment created by section 4 of chapter 583 of the Laws of 1871, and referred to in the opinion of Judge Barrett, in the Tenth National Bank case, has been succeeded by the present Board of Estimate and Apportionment, and all the powers which, by law, were vested in the Board of Apportionment, are now possessed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

As explained, $100,000 only has been by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment appropriated for the court-house building, and the Charter expressly provides that no "officer shall incur any expense in excess of sum appropriated." The Commissioners of the Court-house have contracted for expenses exceeding $280,000 in excess of the appropriation made, and are proceeding with the work on the court-house building.

As it is by law the duty of the Commissioners of Accounts to report whether payments made from the Treasury are authorized by law or ordinance, and to state our reasons for our opinion in reference thereto, we have thought it proper, although our report of payments from the Treasury is only carried down to December 7, 1876, to anticipate the payments as to this court-house under the contracts referred to—one payment has been made by the Comptroller on one of these contracts subsequent to the date of our report—and to give our reasons as the law requires, why, in our opinion, the Comptroller has no power to draw his warrant for payment required by the contracts referred to.

The $149,590,363.41 bonds and stocks of the city outstanding on December 7, 1876, were issued at rates of interest as follows:

$60,000 00	at $2\frac{3}{4}$	per cent.
